

The diagram illustrates safety rules for a construction site, organized into a grid of signs and text boxes. On the left, a yellow triangular warning sign with a black exclamation mark is positioned above a red circular prohibition sign with a black hand icon. To the right of these signs are two stacked rectangular text boxes: a yellow one with black text and a red one with white text. Further right, three blue circular icons are arranged vertically, each corresponding to a blue rectangular text box with white text. The entire diagram is enclosed in a red border with small black dots at the corners.
